WHY BIRTH RATE IS LOWERED.

LOVE OF LUXURY A REASON

Dr. Gertrude Bodfish Explains Why Birth Rate Is Lowered.

LOVE OF LUXURY A REASON

By Eleanor Ames.

"Why the increase of the children's death rate in the last few years in Massachusetts?" I asked Dr. Gertrude Bodfish.

Dr. Bodfish is not only a learned and scientific physician; she is also a true, sensible, practical woman. She then babies and believes in their cherishing.

"The children who are not always as from children," she replied. "The mother has no right to look at a childless couple and wonder them. Thousands of men and women would give all their earthly possessions for a child. Many children are so because they can't help themselves."

"There are many reasons for the present lack of children—high living, fast living, overwork, the too strenuous life. But some people don't want any children," I suggested.

"It is a shameful fact," she admitted. "The wife who avoids maternity is an unwoman. The husband who does not want to be a father is contemptible. Any man who doesn't like children is almost dead. The normal woman wants to be a mother."

Great Love of Luxury.

"There are a few cases where a woman is married to be a mother, but the majority of women to avoid maternity is morally wrong. One of the greatest causes for the desire to live without children is that the women of today have a great love of luxury. They are more selfish than formerly and they don't want any interference with their personal ambitions. There is another reason for smaller families than in the old days, which is outside of any personal desire on the part of the women. It is the increased expense of living. People have a higher ideal and a greater ambition for their children."

"They feel that while they can do what they want for two children, they could not for three or four. They want to give their children to send them to college, to give them advantages which perhaps they missed. In my own opinion, the mother who can have any children can have them. It is not a matter of money, but in many a case of love and devotion."

"What do you think of lower death rates of children in the old days?" I asked. "I think of them as a year, or so, because why?" I asked.

Dr. Bodfish's face and voice gave evidence of mingled astonishment and indignation. "It is a simply absurd," she exclaimed. "It is a simply absurd."

"It is a simply absurd," she exclaimed. "It is a simply absurd."

DR. WHEATLAND USING X-RAY TO FIND FRACTURE OF MISS WALSH'S LEG

With X-Ray Apparatus Dr. Wheatland Found Break, Making Proper Treatment Possible.

NEWPORT, Aug. 24.—One of the most striking features of the recognition of the skill of a negro physician is that of Dr. Marcus T. Wheatland, an X-ray expert who was called by Mr. William Thomas Walsh to attend his beautiful daughter, Evelyn, who was injured in an automobile accident in which her brother, Vernon, was killed.

When Miss Walsh was removed to her home, the beautiful William Walsh, who was called to her, found a fracture of the right leg. It was necessary to locate the fracture immediately, for the fracture was a compound one, and the leg was badly injured.

DEAD FINGER'S RING ON CRAB MARSH HAD ONE HOUR'S LIBERTY

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A beautiful diamond ring, with a romantic history, was found a few days ago on the claw of a large crab, at Eastport, N. Y., by a fisherman of Brooklyn.

The ring, which is fitted tightly about the right claw of the crab, contains a large white diamond, weighing between three and four carats. A young man, whose name Mr. Henderson declared to be Arthur Moore, told Mr. Henderson that it resembled the ring he presented as an engagement ring to his fiancée, who was later drowned in the vicinity of Eastport.

LYNCH THREAT TO WRESTLER AT LITTLETON, ME.

Wrestling Bout Ends in Big; Greek Tumbler Opponent Through Ropes.

STANDFORD, Ct., Aug. 24.—A wrestling bout here between Arthur Gottlieb of Bridgeport, middleweight champion of Connecticut, and James Prokes, a Greek, of Lowell, Mass., ended in a riot, which was quelled with difficulty by the right police men who had been detailed to keep order.

The bout was rough and tumble from the start, and the referee was obliged to caution Prokes several times. It was thirty seconds without either man getting a fall, when Prokes obtained a knock-out and other falls. He was then taken to the floor of the hall, three days in the hospital.

Gottlieb struck upon his head, and for several minutes was out of his mind. He was then taken to the floor of the hall, three days in the hospital.

SEEK YOUNG MAN IN DEAD GIRL MYSTERY

Police Think Travelling Salesman May Explain Case of Mary K. Walsh.

GIRL FRIEND IS MISSING

The sudden and mysterious death of Miss Mary K. Walsh at No. 83 West Highland square, this city, when her mother believed that she was on a vacation in Maine, is being investigated by the police, who believe that a travelling salesman for whom they are looking may be able to throw some light on the case.

The body of the dead girl, who was twenty-four years old, is at the morgue of the City Hospital. It was taken there

The home of the dead girl is at No. 321 West Seventh street. Her mother declares that she never remained out late at night and that she is at a complete loss as to the cause of her daughter's death.

Police on the Case.

Chief Wren 19-43 gave the case into the hands of the police of Milton 2. Special Officer Morrissey and Sergeant Idey and staff took the matter in hand. They found that the girl had given the name of Marion Wallace and her home as New Ipswich, N. H.

A young man who posed as a physician, but the police think is a traveling salesman, called on the girl at the West Bedford square house. He is about twenty-five years of age, smooth-faced, has a dimple in his chin and a mustache.

With Miss Walsh when she procured the room from Mrs. Margaret Rooney was another girl who gave the name of Campbell. This girl was a blonde and the same girl who wrote Miss Walsh a letter which fell into her mother's hands and which was signed "Katie".

Lonesome and Afraid.
Monday the Walsh girl complained of not feeling well, and told the landlady she felt so lonesome and ill she was afraid to sleep alone. The landlady asked she might sleep with her, if she cared to, and the girl agreed.

Early the next morning Miss Walsh was taken violently ill, the doctor of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., called, but she did not recover.

the case to the police at East Dedham street station, and when notified Medical Examiner MacDonald performed an autopsy. Dr. Vogel gave "septic poisoning" as the cause of death.

Mrs. Walsch, the dead girl's mother, is grief-stricken at her daughter's death. She said the girl had received two letters, one from a girl friend and having no bearing on the case, and the other from a doctor in New Ipswich, N. H. A thorough investigation is being made, and an arrest may result at any hour.

The Campbell girl, with whom Miss Walsh roomed, cannot be found. She accompanied a young man who visited the dead girl Sunday and who said he was a physician. Since the death of the Walsh girl neither has been seen.
